

2023 RURAL SUMMIT

Pathways to Prosperity

November 14, 2023 | Crowne Plaza | Annapolis, Maryland

Welcome to the 2023 Rural Summit

Dear Attendees,

Thank you for joining us for the 2023 Rural Summit “Pathways to Prosperity.” Maryland has often been called “America in miniature” from the beaches and the shore, metropolitan urban life in Baltimore, Montgomery County, and other areas, to farms, forests, small towns, and rural communities. These rural communities represent 75% of Maryland’s land area and almost 1.7 million people. Like our suburban and urban neighbors, rural Marylanders often share the same vision for our State: high quality of life with access to education, jobs, broadband, environmentally healthy open spaces, and water, locally produced foods and agriculture, affordable housing, and access to health and wellness services.

The COVID-19 pandemic, like the Great Recession before it, showed that small towns and rural communities often weather significant economic shocks well due to having weathered bad times before, planned for future bad times, and collaborating and working together when disasters occur. These advantages offer lessons in resiliency and sustainability for future generations. We must plan and develop those pathways to prosperity.

In March 2020, the government took extraordinary measures in response to the emergence and spread of the novel coronavirus. Through policy changes and major spending bills, the federal government directed funds to help states, localities, and households manage the economic challenges caused by the pandemic. Now that ARPA dollars have been expended and enhanced benefits have ended, local governments and households may face challenges for investment, economic development, and growth in the coming year.

Those pathways will require cross-sector collaboration, and innovative and entrepreneurial approaches to address future challenges. The internet and expansion of broadband open our communities to opportunities such as remote education, work, and health care. Today’s conference offers lessons and opportunities to work together on our vision of strong resilient and sustainable rural communities across our State.

Sincerely,

Susan O’Neill
Executive Board Chair, Rural Maryland Council

Charlotte Davis
Executive Director, Rural Maryland Council

Breakout Sessions - Agriculture Track

Breakout Session #1 - Beer, Brie and Charcuterie: the Future of Value Added Agriculture

Time: 10:30 a.m. to 11:45 a.m. - Location: Arundel Ballroom C

Panelists

- Martin Proulx, Value-Added Agriculture Specialist, Maryland Department of Agriculture
- Craig Sewell, Program Director, Southern Maryland Ag Development Commission
- Kelly Dudeck, Acting Executive Director & Chief Strategy Officer, Grow & Fortify

This session will discuss the definition of “value-added” and introduce attendees to the base principles of value-added agriculture in the state of Maryland. Through the discussion of different strategies and best practices currently taking place in the state, to highlighting ideal future opportunities to transform raw products into goods that will enhance agriculture’s social value, shelf-stability, and profitability for individual farmers and businesses, this panel looks to enhance the viewpoint and developing ideals of value-added agriculture in the state.

Breakout Session #2 - Opening Doors Through Agriculture Education: Formal and Informal Pathways and Resources for Individuals and Community Success

Time: 1:45 p.m. to 3:00 p.m. - Location: Arundel Ballroom C

Panelists

- Susanne Richards, Executive Director, Maryland Agricultural Education Foundation, Inc.
- Dr. Melissa Welsh, Director Agricultural Science and Technology, University of Maryland
- Darren W. Robey, Operations Director and Chief Pilot, University of Maryland, UAS Research and Operations Center

This session will focus on how Maryland’s array of opportunities for formal and non-formal education supporting careers in agriculture. From simple educational workshops to certifications to formal degree programs and everything in between, Marylanders can find an educational niche to support their career interests and academic needs. Participants will walk away with a better understanding of the resources available in-state to get youth and adult learners to work in this diverse field.

Breakout Session #3 - Building A Sustainable Future: Collaborative Climate Solutions for Rural Communities

Time: 3:15 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. - Location: Arundel Ballroom C

Panelists

- Terry Nuwer, Special Project Coordinator, University of Maryland Harry Hughes Center for Agro-Ecology
- Rachel Lamb, Ph.D., Senior Climate Advisor, Office of the Secretary, Maryland Department of the Environment
- Shannon Moore, Division Director, Division of Energy and Environment, Frederick County
- Hans Schmidt, Assistant Secretary, Office of Resource Conservation

Maryland’s natural resources are critically important to the economy of the state as a whole. Our farms, forests, and waterways are inextricably tied to one another - meanwhile, concerns over the health of these sectors persist as they’re met with pressure from factors like climate change or development. This panel will provide a case study of the types of programs one rural county is implementing in the face of environmental pressures. It will also review how academia in the state is working to better prepare Maryland’s farmers to mitigate and adapt to changes in climatic conditions, and how rural-based decision-makers statewide help position the agriculture industry to become more resilient. Finally, it will review how the Maryland Department of the Environment is integrating nature-based solutions into the state’s climate plans and programs.

Breakout Sessions - Community Development Track

- Dr. Richard Colgan, Professor and Vice Chair, University of Maryland School of Medicine, Department of Family and Community Medicine

The State has a serious shortage of healthcare workers and we need to identify steps to address shortages through 1) a loan incentive program and 2) successful pipeline programs. Primary care has a critical role in promoting health for Marylanders. Efforts by the University of Maryland School of Medicine will be highlighted which supports primary care, to include: the Maryland Area Health Education Program Office, Area Health Education Scholars Program, Primary Care Track Elective, the pursuit of a Community Preceptor Tax Credit and the establishment of a Rural Residency Training Program on the Eastern Shore. A summary of specific needs for consideration by the Maryland legislature will be mentioned.

Speaker Highlight

Keynote Speaker Becky McCray is a lifelong small-town entrepreneur. As co-founder of SaveYour.Town, she shares insights from her real-world experience as a business owner and cattle rancher. Her practical perspective is featured at her highly-ranked website, Small Biz Survival, and in her award-winning book, Small Town Rules. She's been featured and quoted in books, newspapers, magazines, blogs, podcasts and university publications. She makes her home base in Hopeton, Oklahoma, a community of 30 people. Her goal is to deliver practical steps you can put into action right away to shape the future of your town.

Plenary Speaker R. Andrew Bauer (Andy) is Vice President and Regional Executive for the Baltimore branch of the Federal Reserve Bank of Richmond. Bauer serves as the lead external facing officer for the Richmond Fed in Maryland, the Greater Washington metropolitan area, and West Virginia. In this role, he provides support to the Bank's monetary policy responsibilities and leads the execution of Bank's external engagement strategy. He also works with community leaders and partners with regional organizations to share research perspectives in areas of expertise related to the Bank's mission, including advancing the Bank's community development goal of promoting investment in low- and moderate-income communities.

Plenary Speaker Brooke Lierman is the 34th Comptroller of the state of Maryland and the first woman to be independently elected to one of our state's constitutional offices. After running a strong, policy-focused and grassroots-led two-year campaign, she was elected with over 60% of the vote in November 2022. She is an attorney by training, practicing as a civil rights and disability rights lawyer for many years, and prior to her election as Comptroller, she served for 8 years a member of the House of Delegates representing part of Baltimore City.

Speaker Highlight

Plenary Speaker Kevin Atticks, Secretary, Maryland Department of Secretary - Kevin Atticks was appointed Secretary of Agriculture on Jan. 17, 2023. Before his appointment, Atticks was CEO (and founder) of Grow & Fortify, a firm that supports value-added agricultural organizations and the businesses they represent. Grow & Fortify published the first assessment of the state's value-added agricultural industry, illustrating the expansive impact generated by this sector, which includes wineries, creameries, meat processing, agritourism, equine, and dozens of other industry segments. Atticks was also the Executive Director of the Maryland Wineries Association, Brewers Association of Maryland, and the Maryland Distillers Guild, and served as the President of the Maryland Agricultural Resource Council, and the Chair of the Wine America State & Regional Associations Advisory Council.

Plenary Speaker Josh Kurtz, Secretary, Maryland Department of Natural Resources, is a lifelong outdoor enthusiast and conservationist, passionate about the beauty of our state and all the resources it has to offer. Under the Moore/Miller administration, Secretary Kurtz leads teams across the state, working to improve water quality and bay resilience, restore and conserve forested land, expand access to our state parks, monitor and slow the spread of invasive species, and ensure the state maintains sustainable fisheries. Kurtz previously served as the Maryland executive director of the Chesapeake Bay Foundation, and has also served as policy and government relations director for The Nature Conservancy in Maryland where he created and led advocacy campaigns leveraging strong relationships with partners and industry leaders to build support for policies regarding conservation and climate change in both the Maryland General Assembly and the DC City Council.
